Letters to the Editor

Dear Keith & Karen:

In Texas, we have a general election, November 7, 2017. Early voting is October 23 - November 3. If your voter registration is not current, you have until October 10, 2017 to get to your County's Election Administrations Office to register, in order to be eligible to vote November 7.

Here is a fairly extensive description of the seven amendments being proposed to the Texas State Constitution, citing both the pros and the cons. It gives the ballot language you'll see on the ballot, it gives a background explanation about why the proposition is an issue, then is followed by the pros and cons. It's presented by the League of Women Voters of Texas: http://www.lwvtexas.org/files/CAVG\_2017\_Eng\_Final.pdf

Some counties, cities, school or water districts have local elections, which you should explore through your county Elections Office, but those are very few.

As Christian people, it's our duty to learn about what voting opportunities are asked of we citizens, and we should exercise knowledgeable steps to cast our votes.

Blessings upon you!
